

MODELS APPEAR IN PICTURE PLAY

Best Looking Ones in New York Engaged for Novel Paramount Production.

One of the most impressive scenes in "The Big Sister," in which Mae Murray is being starred by the Famous Players on the Paramount program, is the great modiste shop setting in which Miss Murray plays a manikin. For this scene there were assembled from the various department stores in New York and from the most celebrated modistes the best looking models that could be procured. The result will win the approval of every one who sees the picture.

Barney Bernard, who has successfully played on the speaking stage the character of Abe Potash, created and made famous by Montague Glass, the author, has the leading part in a five reel comedy drama called "Phantom Fortunes," which is the leader ically bought his young wife from her father, and gives her to understand she is his property.

The Shuberts have acquired the American rights to "The Love Thief," an English comedy, which was successful in London.

Thomas Ince offers Hattie Barriscale, Louise Glaum, Charles Ray and an all star cast in "Home," a Triangle picture, at the Orpheum theater today. This theme strikes with ruthless force at one of the foibles of the great middle class society. It tears away the cloak of ostentation and ludicrous pretensions of the newly-rich and shows how they expose themselves to exploitation by those on the ragged edge of the Four Hundred. The story deals with the affairs of a family that had suddenly grown rich, which results in the usual thing—it becomes unduly extravagant and makes a vulgar display of its wealth. It takes their young

CINCO CIGARS

Now Five Cents Straight.

Owing to the increased cost of production, the manufacturers of CINCO Cigars, OTTO EISENLOHR & BROS., INCORPORATED, have advanced their selling price to the dealers, and, in future, this cigar will be sold to the consumer absolutely at five cents "straight," instead of six for a quarter, as heretofore.

The CINCO Cigar has attained a national reputation, and, through the maintenance of a high standard of quality, has become the largest seller in the world, and the manufacturers deemed it advisable to advance the price rather than sacrifice its long-established high quality.—Advertisement.

senate in 1911 will disclose the fact that the expenses of that session were less than those of any other regular session of legislature. It also discloses the fact that I did not accept one cent for my services during that legislative session.

The contingent fund expenses for general purposes during the three and one-half years of my administration—excepting those items which were expended upon the approval of the board of public works and the public service commission—from September 30, 1912, to June 30, 1916, were $10,716.38. For the same period of Governor Glasscock's administration, ending September 30, 1912, they were $11,150.24. I would be glad to have you or your candidate, Mr. Cornwell, point to a state whose chief executive has spent an amount less than Governor Glasscock or myself.

My personal expense account during my entire service as governor, from March 4, 1913, to date, is less than $1,000.

The appropriation made by the legislature of 1915—the only legislature that has been convened during my term as governor—in the way of a contingent fund was $20,000 per year, which represents approximately the same amount of money that has been appropriated since the year of 1903 for the governor's contingent fund and the emergency fund expended upon the order of the board of public works.

Cornwell Fallsible. Notwithstanding this recorded fact Mr. Cornwell has been going about the state making the false declaration that my contingent fund was more than $31,000. He has not taken the time to inform himself as to the truth of his assertion, or is wilfully misrepresenting the facts, and if I am to reach a conclusion based upon my impression as to his misrepresentation of other things, I must conclude that he is contemptibly malicious in his statements.

Previous to the legislative session of 1911 appropriations were made by the legislature for the emergency fund to be paid upon the order of the board of public works and for the governor's contingent fund; but it was decided that it would be better that the two funds should be combined, and in that session a combined appropriation was made under the head of the governor's contingent fund, which was continued by the legislature of 1912, when the Senate was equally divided politically.

Not one dollar of the money from the contingent fund has gone to the payment of detectives by me, as Mr.

MAE MURRAY, FAMOUS PLAYERS STAR IN PARAMOUNT PICTURES.

There are a great many ways of receiving one's engagement ring from the man of one's choice, but this illustration was snapped shortly after Mae Murray was proposed to in one of her Paramount Pictures produced by the Famous Players.

today at the Bijou theater. Another Helen Gibson railroad thriller called "The Engineer's Honor," and a short comedy are also shown.

George Ovey, the Cub comedian, is still at work turning out funny pictures showing the adventures of Jerry, at the Horsley studios in Los Angeles. Booking reports show a steadily increasing demand for this young actor with his style of playing all his own.

"Arms and the Girl," by Grant Stewart and Robert Baker, was produced in New York this week, with Fay Bainter in the leading role. The play is described as a light and amusing romance of war times, the scenes being connected with the invasion of Belgium, but not with its grim aspects. The humor comes from the predicaments of two Americans stranded in the first days of the invasion.

The delightful little Portmanteau theater is to make an extended tour, with a large repertoire of plays and playlets.

whom the people of the state have not yet given any warrant of authority over their affairs—is in keeping with the campaign of misrepresentation and unjust insinuations that is being conducted by him, in the vain hope of misleading and tricking some of the people thereby hoping to make possible his election.

Goes into Detail.

The governor goes into detail to show that his personal expense account during his term as governor is less than $1,000. He calls attention to gross misrepresentations of Mr. Cornwell concerning the amount of his contingent fund, and further that the contingent fund expenses for general purposes have been even less than $1,000. He calls attention to the fact that the contingent fund was made under the head of the governor's contingent fund, which was continued by the legislature of 1912, when the Senate was equally divided politically.

Governor Hatfield's reply to Mr. Oxley's communication is as follows:

Charleston, W. Va.,
September 29, 1916.
B. H. Oxley, Esq.,
Charleston, West Virginia.

Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of your communication of September 27 reading as follows:

"Charleston, W. Va.,
September 27, 1916.
Hon. Henry D. Hatfield,
Governor of West Virginia,
Charleston, W. Va.

"Dear Sir:
On behalf of the Hon. John J. Cornwell, Democratic candidate for governor, I respectfully desire and request that there be furnished me at the earliest possible date, itemized account of the telephone bills paid out of your contingent fund for the month of July, 1916, for both your executive offices and the governor's mansion, paid by auditor's warrants numbers 119,354-119,356 respectively and by your requisitions.

"Trusting it may be your pleasure to have this detailed information prepared and mailed me, I remain

Very respectfully yours,
"B. H. OXLEY."

Governor's Reply.

In reply I wish to state that this request, involving as it does information of an official character that ought not properly to be made public, and also of an intimate personal kind is received by me not only with surprise but with contempt. Such a request coming from them as you claim to represent—to whom I am in no way accountable and whom the people of the state have not yet given any warrant of authority over their affairs—is in keeping with the campaign of misrepresentation and unjust insinuation that is being conducted by him in the vain hope of misleading and tricking some of the people, thereby hoping to make possible his election.

In the expenditure of the contingent fund, the constitution provides that I shall report to the legislature of the state, and to that body a strict accounting will be made at the proper time. My expenditures are also audited by the state auditing department, which department is vested with this authority by the legislature.

I resent not only the making of such an utterly improper request, but the unfair and underhand insinuations which are implied in the making. But after having such a request from you at the instance of the Democratic candidate for governor I am somewhat surprised when the request is not also made for a detailed statement of all telephone calls that have been made to and from the mansion—my home—and that Mr. Cornwell does not also wish to know the other details of my domestic arrangements, such as the amount of my grocery bill and what I paid for the various articles of wearing apparel during that period.

Pays Out of Own Money.

For your information permit me to say to you that my personal expenses during the last year, so far as the state was concerned, have been nothing, notwithstanding many visits made by me to various sections of the state on matters pertaining to institutions and other duties which come to the chief executive.

My record as president of the state

Cornwell would represent as being the case.

Mr. Cornwell has made false statements about many acts of mine as chief executive of this state and has criticized my administration. I shall be very glad to discuss with him the record of my administration before as many audiences as he desires and to permit the citizens to conclude as to my official actions. This offer, if Mr. Cornwell is honorable and fair, he should accept, instead of adopting the method of going about the state misrepresenting and maligning me.

Now, if Mr. Cornwell wishes to discuss the record of my administration, let him for once allow fairness to take the place of the strong partisan inclination and misrepresentation that has attended his every effort in this campaign, as well as his unsuccessful campaign of 1904, and meet me squarely upon the issue he has seen fit to raise.

Very truly,
H. D. HATFIELD.
